Equity-Eligible Contractors Roundtable

Monday November 20th, 2023 9:00 am CST

Register Here

As 2024 approaches, the rollout of the Illinois Climate and Equitable Jobs Act (CEJA) is picking up speed. Workforce organizations and clean energy contractors across the state eagerly await the release of the Returning Resident Clean Jobs NOFO as the end of the Clean Energy Contractor Incubator application deadline approaches. Those with extensive capacity and grant management experience are especially well-positioned amid the program announcements. On the other hand, Equity-Eligible Contractors (EECs) – a group whose success is directly linked to CEJA's overarching goals – have reported facing barriers to applying for CEJA funding.

To promote EEC participation in CEJA programs, CJC will host a roundtable event to identify and address the needs of EECs. The session aims to boost participation in CEJA programs, share best practices, address challenges, and raise awareness of CEJA programs and their equity focus. The hybrid event will feature presentations by workforce development and clean energy jobs insiders, as well as a Q&A session. Anyone interested is invited to attend; learn more and register here.

Career Readiness Curriculum

As workforce development practitioners and educators, our primary responsibility is to build and strengthen our communities. One of the ways we do this is through providing Career Readiness training. Career Readiness can help job seekers continually build on their existing skills and attributes, thus helping them navigate the workforce arena. Read more and download the curriculum on our new blog post.

Financial Opportunity Center Report from LISC

Discover how Financial Opportunity Centers® (FOCs) are at the forefront of closing the racial wealth gap. This white paper explores the innovative FOC model, its impact on empowering communities, and practical strategies for implementation. In 2019, LISC Chicago decided to share their learnings with other organizations through the FOC Model Implementation Academy. Five Chicago-based organizations participated, tailoring the model to their community needs. This white paper explores how this model works and how organizations can take what we have learned to have deeper and more meaningful impact with their clients. Read the report here.

DFSS RFP Announcement: Service Coordination and Navigation Model

To address the COVID-19 pandemic-related effects on youth, communities, and violence in Chicago, the Service Coordination and Navigation for Youth at the Highest Risk of Violence (SCaN) Request for Proposals (RFP) seeks to provide funding for delegate agencies to assist youth ages 14-24 in accessing and navigating the appropriate services needed to meet their complex needs and achieve substantive goals. This work will include pairing youth with a full-time "Navigator" who will develop an individualized service and goal plan alongside youth, connect youth with relevant services to support their immediate needs and goals, and provide continual support to youth to ensure they can access and complete the services necessary to meet their needs and complete their goals. For more information, please refer to the application posted on the City of Chicago's eProcurement page under current bids.
