

Livestream: New public opinion polling on skills training

Do you want to be the first to see preliminary results of new public opinion research looking at what people want to hear from candidates about skills training? Join NSC on Facebook streaming live from #SkillsSummit2019 for Election Reflections & Projections: Voters' Views on Skills Training.

Election Reflections
& Projections: Voters'
Views on Skills Training

Tuesday, February 5th at 4:30 p.m.

Livestreamed from the 2019 Skills Summit
Be the first to see preliminary results of new public opinion research looking at what republican, democrat, and independent voters want to hear from presidential candidates on skills training during the next election cycle.

Amidst the many divisive issues in the 2018 midterms, skills training quietly emerged as a nonpartisan, commonsense answer to economic anxieties felt by Americans on both sides of the political divide. Polling and focus groups during the 2018 cycle suggest that affirmative skills messages could have been effective for candidates from both parties in highly contested elections. What will this mean for the 2020 election cycle which will start in earnest in 2019? Be the first to see preliminary results of new public opinion research by National Skills Coalition looking at what voters - republican, democrat, and independent - want to hear from presidential candidates about skills training in the next election cycle.

Moderator: Adam Harris, The Atlantic
- Brian Stryker, Partner, ALG Research
- Anne Kim, Vice President, Domestic Policy, Progressive Policy Institute
- Brent Orrell, Resident Fellow, Domestic Policy, American Enterprise Institute
- Rachel Unruh, Chief of Staff, National Skills Coalition

Click here to join us live on February 5 at 4:30 pm EDT

If you are interested in watching more Skills Summit plenaries, tune in by visiting our Facebook page.

- 1pm ET on Tuesday, Feb. 5: 2019 Skills for Good Jobs Agenda
- 9am ET on Wednesday, Feb. 6: There's more than one "future of work": Uneven prospects for different workers
- 12 noon ET on Wednesday, Feb. 6: Stories from across the aisle: How bipartisanship can change the course of skills policy

Connect with us:

DONATE

National Skills Coalition
1730 Rhode Island Ave NW, Suite 712
Washington, DC 20036
United States