

NATIONAL SKILL COALITION'S 2024 YEAR IN REVIEW

A Stronger Workforce
A Thriving Economy

2024 was a landmark year for National Skills Coalition. We concluded our three-year strategic plan, advancing equitable workforce policies to help all workers and local businesses thrive. As we gear up for even bigger opportunities in 2025, including the launch of our new strategic plan this fall, we want to take this moment to share the impacts that you helped us achieve in 2024.

In our 2024 Year in Review report, you'll find:

- Insights into our federal and state policy wins, including our work to support the introduction of the Digital Skills For Today's Workforce Act.
- Updates on advocacy campaigns advancing our mission: Through our advocacy for short-term Pell Grants and the Making College Work campaign, we garnered support for legislation expanding Pell Grant eligibility to short-term training programs.
- Milestones achieved by our multiple networks: Last year, the Voices for Skills network launched the Student Advisory Council, comprised of workers and students working with NSC to shape policy and educate the public and policymakers.

Looking ahead to 2025:

- Annual Skills Summit in May, celebrating 25 years of NSC
- Launching a new strategic plan in the fall
- Expanding focus to critical areas like the care workforce and AI's role in the workforce
- Building partnerships to improve job quality, including increasing wages and benefits

We're excited to embark on our next phase, and we hope you will stay with us on the journey.
