Why attend the Skills Summit?

The Skills Summit is the only national workforce event where the day-to-day advocates, training providers, policymakers, and business leaders gather to shape and influence state and federal policy—and make real change happen for workers and businesses. The policy solutions that are discussed during the Summit are more necessary than ever. Through Hill visits, workshops, and panels this event is an opportunity for changemakers to come together at a critical time. Explore last year's event here.

What's new?

For the first time, the Skills Summit will focus on convening state and national policymakers and advocates from across the country to discuss the connections between state and federal policy. That means there is a seat for you!
