Farm Bill should focus on skills, not red tape

The House of Representatives is likely to take a second vote this week on their Farm Bill reauthorization package, which would expand ineffective work requirements to many SNAP recipients while creating burdensome rules for states and other stakeholders. The House has already rejected this bill once; please take a second to tweet your Representative and ask them to vote against it again.

@YourRepresentative: Please vote "no" on HR2, which would expand ineffective work requirements for SNAP recipients. The next #FarmBill should focus on skills, not red tape.
