

NATIONAL SKILLS COALITION

Every worker. Every industry. A strong economy.

We've reached a crucial milestone in our campaign to modernize the Higher Education Act! Two bills introduced in the Senate yesterday will help working students advance in their careers.

The JOBS Act is a bi-partisan bill that makes Pell grants available to hard-working Americans who want to pursue quality short-term training programs. And the College Transparency Act arms students, policymakers, and businesses with data they need on industries on the rise, the skills needed to land a job, and institutions and programs that will help them reach their career goals. Together, these bills give students, parents, employers, and policymakers peace of mind when it comes to ensuring access and quality of postsecondary programs.

Passing these bills is crucial to our vision of a strong U.S. economy where every worker and every business has the skills to compete – but we need your help to make it happen. Donate today to make that vision a reality.

Just last month, we released poll results showing overwhelming support for increased investment in skills and technical training. Democrats, Republicans, Independents — 86% of likely voters agree: Federal financial aid should be available to anyone seeking skills training, not just those seeking college degrees.

Your support in raising the visibility of these issues helped us get to this landmark day – but we still have work to do. Donate today to help NSC advocate for the policies that get students the in-demand credentials and skills they need for tomorrow's jobs.

Stay tuned as we work to increase support and momentum for the JOBS Act and the College Transparency Act!
