

Webinar Invitation: Service Workers with Limited Foundational Skills

Join us next Thursday, March 16 at 2:00 p.m. ET for the webinar, Service Workers with Limited Foundational Skills: What New Data Tells Us & How Employers and Policymakers Can Respond. During the webinar, NSC Director of Upskilling Policy, Amanda Bergson-Shilcock will provide a detailed look at new findings from the Foundational Skills in the Service Sector report. The report draws on data from the Survey of Adult Skills (PIAAC) to shed light on working adults ages 16-64 who have limited basic skills. Learn how some employers are investing in skill-building opportunities for these workers, and find out how you can advocate for effective state and federal policies to support adult education and upskilling.
