

NATIONAL SKILLS COALITION

Every worker. Every industry. A strong economy.

When you invest in NSC, you invest in a more prosperous future for all of us

Unity and abundance: these are the watchwords of the season.

In the midst of a busy time of year, this Giving Tuesday offers an opportunity to reflect on what brings us together, and how when we partner together, we can create better lives – and a stronger economy.

#GIVING
TUESDAY

In times that have sometimes been challenged with division, the National Skills Coalition's community stands together, speaks together, and advocates together for what our communities and our economy need to prosper. Your donation will support NSC's broad, diverse coalition-building, and enable us to continue our work of bringing all stakeholders together to advance economic progress and prosperity for workers and businesses – and for our country.

Because of NSC and its many partners' hard work over nearly twenty years, the skills gap is no longer being ignored. With your support, NSC advances state and federal policies that invest in people – so every worker and every industry have the skills to compete and prosper. More importantly, we ensure that every worker, every business, and every organization working on the ground towards this effort have a voice in making that happen.

A tax-deductible investment in National Skills Coalition today is an investment in a better American economy – will you join us today by making a gift?

"My finances, my happiness, everything has improved. I'm saving to buy my first house," says Gabby, 21, a graduate of a welding certification program at Portland Community College. At first she didn't think college would be an option for her financially – but she jumped at the chance to get out of a cycle of jobs that kept her living paycheck to paycheck and that didn't offer any growth. "Not only am I making decent money, I actually like going to work every day...[This training] opened a lot of doors for me."

And when you support the National Skills Coalition, you are supporting "people-first" economic growth. You amplify the voices of small and mid-sized businesses in your community that need skilled employees. You give America's workers the chance to grow into better jobs that support their families, vastly improving their quality of life and future.

Empowering our workforce, supporting businesses, and strengthening our economy impacts each and every one of us. By joining the National Skills Coalition community, you are directly supporting unity and abundance, and making an indelible mark in moving all of us on a prosperous path forward. Thank you for considering an investment to make that progress possible with a donation to National Skills Coalition.

With gratitude,

Andy

PS: National Skills Coalition doesn't accept government funding. Your donations allow us to stay above the political fray to advocate for bipartisan, common-sense policies that help workers and businesses prosper. Thank you for giving generously.
